COMMENTS/HISTORICAL INFORMATION:

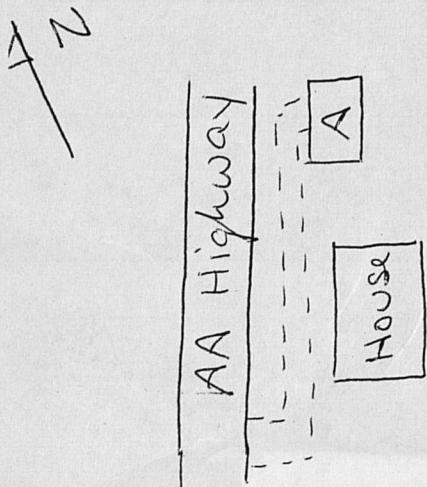

Located on the AA Highway, this 1.5 story, four-bay red brick Cape Cod has a side-gabled asphalt shingle roof and formal, Colonial Revival-type entry porch, with two round columns supporting a pediment. The front door has sidelights on either side of it. The house has a small screened-in porch on the east elevation. On the front façade, a section of the house is slightly stepped back, and there is a slightly projecting wing on the west elevation. The house has metal casement windows with narrow transoms above, and rests on a poured concrete foundation. A centered brick chimney is located atop the roof. The house has a two-car red-brick garage located to the east.
